Objective

Seeking an entry-level position in a high-level professional environment.

Summary

Self-motivator, always eager for knowledge and information. All the experiences in customer service and working in technical environment have polished my verbal communication skills. I am quick learner in adopting new technologies in fast paced environment. I like to tinker with virtual machines and terminal stuff in my free time. Proficient in Software tools and system such as MS Office and Linux I am always looking for new ways on how to improve my technical skills. An enthusiast of IT and system administration, always willing to help in providing comprehensive support for IT systems. My hope down the line is to specialize in network infrastructure, and cloud computing, with a more generalist (meaning hands-on experience) take on technology.
